

About the Firm

Lemhi Ventures invests in innovative companies in the healthcare services industry. We pursue companies with products and services reflecting our belief that the marketization of healthcare is the best way fix a broken system and provide quality and value to consumers.

Our investing philosophy holds that:

- As an industry, healthcare services is ripe for disruptive change business models;
- Venture capital is the most effective tool to position and sustain disruptive change; and
- Entrepreneurial cultures are the incubators of bold new ideas.

Lemhi will consider investing in companies at any stage of development, from start-ups to established companies ready to accelerate their market penetration. Our core questions are about the nature of the change a prospective company presents and the potential impact of that change on the marketplace of healthcare services.

Principals

Our principals draw on rich careers in start-ups, small and large companies, consulting, public and private firms, and in domestic and international markets. As seasoned business operators and executives with 20+ years of leadership experience in human capital, finance, accounting and business development, the Lemhi team has a direct and personal understanding of the excitement and challenges of creating a new enterprise. Individually and collectively, we have started, funded, grown and exited healthcare companies. We apply the lessons learned to the obstacles faced by the entrepreneurs in whom we invest. We view our role as that of a full financial and operational partner with each of our portfolio companies.

Funding Priorities

Lemhi actively seeks entrepreneurs with ideas that expand consumer choice in healthcare; increase transparency in pricing, quality and services; and develop new technology infrastructure that improves the quality and efficiency of the healthcare delivery system.
